

M-Tech Relocates to Brand New Office Space

M-Tech's Continued Growth Creates Need for Increased Space

Calgary, AB - July 21, 2004 - M-Tech Information Technology, Inc., a leading provider of identity management solutions, today announced the relocation of its corporate head office to a new 41,000 square foot, state-of-the-art facility. M-Tech constructed the new building to accommodate its rapid growth in business, staff levels and demand for teleconferencing and training facilities.

M-Tech's new corporate headquarters were specifically designed to meet requirements for efficient employee collaboration and satisfaction, customer training and support for advanced network technology infrastructure. The building will also accommodate future expansion options.

"I am very proud of our new corporate facility and its potential to meet the current and future expansion requirements of the company," said Gideon Shoham, CEO of M-Tech. "This building was designed specifically for M-Tech by a leading architecture firm that has created a preeminent environment for a high-tech company. It is truly a reflection of the business strength of M-Tech."

The cutting edge, contemporary building is highlighted by an atrium extending to the top floor from a reflecting pool and flowing water features in the lobby, as well as first class office spaces and training facilities.

The first major event hosted by the new facility will be M-Tech's semi-annual worldwide partner and sales retreat.

M-Tech's new office is centrally located in the Calgary downtown area at:

500, 1401 1st St. S.E.
Calgary, Alberta
